

www.data-innaginginist.com/slides/user2018

CALEYDO

The Washington
post

San Francisco Chronicle

Wednesday, June 9, 2010 | Edition: Bay Area | Price: $5.00

A death-penalty ruling to watch

State court decision could freeze executions

By Mike Specia

The California Supreme Court's decision on whether the state can execute inmates with lethal injection, while the state's attorney general, Jerry Brown, has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to review the state's decision, could freeze executions for years.

The California Supreme Court's decision on whether the state can execute inmates with lethal injection, while the state's attorney general, Jerry Brown, has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to review the state's decision, could freeze executions for years.

The California Supreme Court's decision on whether the state can execute inmates with lethal injection, while the state's attorney general, Jerry Brown, has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to review the state's decision, could freeze executions for years.

STILL ON TRACK AS COACH IS BACK

Her's surprise return a boost for Warriors before latest win

S.P. seeks data for business licenses

Co-working space missed for info on location

By Nathan Hill

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors has approved a new law that requires businesses to provide data on their location and other information to the city's Department of Public Works.

nature

THE INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF SCIENCE

GROWTH FACTOR

Structurally pure single-walled carbon nanotubes isolated from a rationally designed end cap

PHILIP J. L. LIAW

PHYSICS
DREAM MACHINE

Building a quantum computer without any transistors

PHILIP

PHYSICS
ANTARCTIC MANIFESTO

Is Antarctica really a continent?

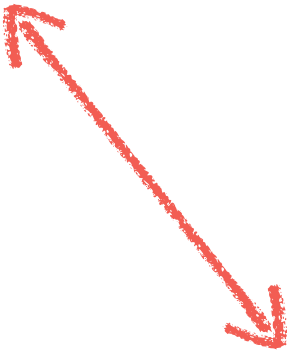

PHILIP

PHYSICS
MERCURY RING

Mercury's ring system
discovered by NASA's MESSENGER

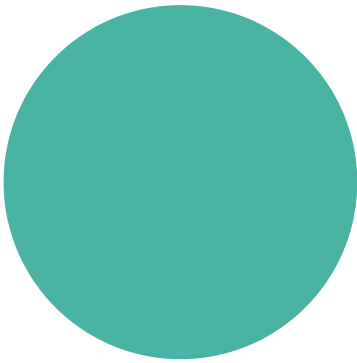

PHILIP

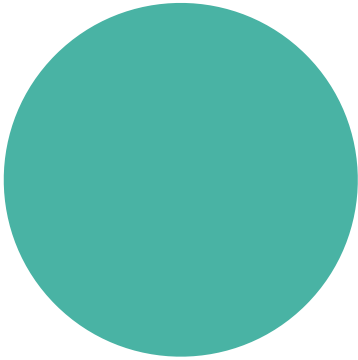

static

Interdive

A large teal circle serves as the background for the text.

Animated

ATTENTION

MOVING OBJECTS

ATTENTION

MOVING OBJECTS

The Washington
Post

CALEYDO

